Take Ground Lost at Neuve Chapelle.

London, Mar. 15—(7:55 p. m.)—The British admiral announced tonight that the German Cruiser Dresden had been sunk.

The sinking of the Dresden was announced in the following statement:

"On the 14th of March at 9 a. m., H. M. S. Glasgow, Captain John Luce, R. N.; H. M. Auxiliary Cruiser Orama, Captain John R. Segrave, R. N.; and H. M. S. Kent, Captain John D. Allen, C. B., R. N., caught the Dresden near Juan Fernandez Island.

"An action ensued and after five minutes fighting the Dresden hauled down her colors and displayed the white flag. She was much damaged and set on fire and after she had been burning for some time her magazine exploded and she sank.

"The crew were saved, fifteen badly wounded Germans are being landed at Valparaiso.

"There were no British casualties and no damage to the ships."

Escaped From Squadron.

The Dresden was a member of the German squadron which was defeated by the British squadron off the Falkland Islands in December. She was the only one of five German warships to escape. The Dresden was said to have fled to the westward but there had been no definite reports as to her whereabouts since that time. She was reported unofficially to have been seen in the Straits of Magellan and later to be in hiding in one of the bays on the Chilean coast.

Was Sister Ship of Emden.

The Dresden was a sister ship of the famous Emden, which was sunk off Cocos Island in the Indian Ocean by the Australian Cruiser Sydney after an adventurous career. The sinking of the Dresden leaves at large on the high seas, so far as is known, only the Cruiser Karlsruhe, last reported as operating in the West Indies, and the Auxiliary Cruiser Kron Prinz Wilhelm which is still raiding commerce in the South Atlantic.

At the outbreak of the war the Dresden was assigned to the West Indies station and prior to the beginning of hostilities she took Victoriano Huerta, who had resigned as provisional president of Mexico, from Puerto Mexico to Jamaica.

Little was heard of her until the battle off the Falkland Islands. Late in August she sank the British Steamer Hyades off the coast of Brazil. The Dresden, a vessel of 3,600 tons, was no match for the battle cruisers in the fleet of Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Sturdee in the battle off the Falkland Islands and after the destruction of the Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, Leipzig and Nürnberg, she steamed away and escaped her pursuers in the darkness.

Eluded Pursuit Three Months.

Since that time both British and Japanese warships have searched persistently the waters of the South Pacific and South Atlantic and for more than three months the German cruiser eluded pursuit. The Dresden's armament was comparatively light. She carried ten 4.1 inch guns, eight five pounder tubes, four machine guns and two torpedo tubes. She was 395 feet long. Her complement was 321 men. Juan Fernandez Island, near which the Dresden was finally run down, is a Chilean dependency in the Pacific Ocean about 400 miles off the mainland. The Chilean government protested to Germany in December against alleged violations of neutrality by German warships in Chilean waters and three destroyers were sent by Chile to the Juan Fernandez Islands. The solitary residence on Juan Fernandez Island, for four years, of a Scotchman named Alexander Selkirk, is supposed to have formed the basis of DeFoe's tale "Robinson Crusoe."

The Dresden visited New York at the time of the Hudson Fulton celebration.

Much Rejoicing in London.

London, March 15.—(11 p. m.)—The Dresden has been sunk; the British are holding the Germans in their efforts to re-take Neuve Chapelle and Epinette." "The Russians continue in possession of Przrasnyz. These were the headlines which attracted the attention of the English people today and tonight.

The announcement of the sinking of the German Cruiser Dresden came after nightfall but the news spread quickly through the theaters and restaurants and there was much rejoicing that this commerce raider, whose whereabouts have been a mystery since her escape after the Falkland Islands' engagement in December had at last been sent to the bottom.

The fact that all the crew of the Dresden were saved sets a new record for rescue after an action at sea and a naval battle of five minutes duration probably is another record. The details furnished by the admiralty are scant but apparently the British ships were not even hit or damaged whatever is recorded.

Make Conflicting Claims.

In the region of Przrasnyz, Russian Poland, the great battle has not been fought and what fighting there has been each of the contenders maintain is turning in his favor. The Russians are claiming hard earned progress all along the line; the Germans just as stoutly assert that the Russian attacks have been repulsed. In the west the Germans are not so optimistic regarding Neuve Chapelle, as they omit in their official statements any mention of the fighting there, although they have been bringing up reinforcements and are fighting desperately to re-take the ground from which they were driven with such loss. There is no British statement to throw light on the present situation, but the French war office says there has been no change.

Meanwhile the Germans are keeping their attacks on the British near Ypres, the ground made famous last fall.

Before these attacks the British have been giving away to some extent. This fact is asserted by the Germans and admitted by the French.

It is believed that any sanguinary engagement will be fought near Neuve Chapelle. The Germans are seeking to distract the British by their activity around Ypres and probably the coming battle will necessitate reinforcements.

Refers Optimistically to Situation.

Earl Kitchener, secretary for war in a speech in the house of lords today, referred optimistically to the military situation in general from the allies' standpoint but he complained of the slowness with which munitions of war are being turned out. He emphasized what is worrying the war authorities more than any other phase of the task of throwing an army into the field—the great problem of keeping the British and allied armies supplied with the vast amount of ammunition that the guns devour at an amount which will perhaps treble if the generally expected spring advance comes.

STATE EIGHT SHIPS OPERATING IN DARDANELLES ARE DAMAGED

Berlin, March 15.—(12:35 a. m.)—A wireless despatch received from Constantinople says:

"It is semi-officially stated, and most emphatically, the British Warships Agamemnon, Lord Nelson, Cornwallis, Dublin and the French ships Bouvet, Suffren and Saphire all have been damaged in the Dardanelles fighting. The British battleship Queen Elizabeth has been struck by three heavy shells.

"The hospital ship Canada has left for Malta with numerous injured."

DETROITERS STILL LEAD

Peoria, Ill., Mar. 15.—Fairly good scores were rolled up today at the tournament of the A. B. C., but tonight the Maxines of Detroit are still leading the five-men teams with a score of 2,807. No changes were made today in the leaders of the doubles and individual events, S. F. Meyers and W. Peters of Chicago topping the list of doubles with 1,170 and J. Lellinger of Chicago heading the singles with 671.

War News Summarized

The sinking of the German Cruiser Dresden off the Island of Juan Fernandez by British warships is told briefly in an official statement issued by the German admiralty. The crew of the Dresden, which for three months has eluded the vigilance of hostile ships were saved by the overwhelming forces opposed to her, according to the announcement, caused her to strike her flag, when flames had gained the upper hand.

In a long official communication the French war office announces a series of minor successes in Belgium and on various parts of the war front in France. This communication however admits the blowing up by the Germans of four of the French advance trenches near Port-A-Mousson.

On the same authority it is asserted that the forces which had been compelled to fall back beyond St. Eloi, to the south of Ypres, regained possession of that village and the neighboring trenches.

In the eastern war zone the concentration of troops and preliminary operations for an engagement on an extensive scale in Poland are proceeding but the fighting of late has been of the advance guard order. In the Carpathians, neither Russians nor Austrians seemingly have been able to gain any decisive advantage.

ENGLAND MAKES KNOWN HOW SHE
PROPOSES TO STOP GERMAN TRADE

Order Makes Plain Purpose to Prevent Commodities of Any Kind From Reaching or Leaving Germany.

London, Mar. 15.—(9:45 p. m.)—Great Britain made known to the world today in a formal proclamation signed in council by the king and issued from Buckingham Palace how she proposes to sever all the arteries of sea commerce to and from Germany during the period of the war. As in Premier Asquith's speech forecasting the order, the term "blockade" is not used and no prohibited area is defined. Nevertheless the text of the order makes plain England's purpose—to prevent commodities of any kind from reaching or leaving Germany during the war.

Call Movement a Blockade

British officials tonight frankly called the movement a blockade, the foreign office describing it as an effective blockade, differing from the effective blockades of history only in that the property seized will not be confiscated outright but sold, the proceeds eventually going to the owners. In the last clause of the proclamation is the proposal most interesting to neutrals. This is a flat agreement to lift the "blockade" in case any nation will certify that the ships flying its flag shall not carry goods to Germany or originating therein or belonged to the subjects of the German Empire. It is notable that the order declares no intention to capture ships of Germany's allies, Austria and Turkey, the reason being, no doubt that the measure is avowedly a reprisal against the German submarine warfare.

STATE CANADIAN TEACHERS ARE UNABLE TO DRAW SALARIES

OTTAWA, Ont., Mar. 15.—William Gray of London, Ontario, member of the dominion parliament, has notified the department of justice that 1,500 Canadian teachers are unable to draw their salaries as teachers because they have not become naturalized citizens of the United States. In addition it is charged 28 professors and instructors in the University of California are in the same plight.

Enforcement of an old state law, Mr. Gray charges, is responsible for the present situation.

Officials Deny Charge.

Berkeley, Calif., Mar. 15.—Officials of the University of California denied today the charge made by William Gray, member of the Canadian parliament, that 28 professors and instructors in the university here were unable to receive their salaries because they were not American citizens. The University officials said their legal advisers had instructed them that the recent opinion of the state attorney general to the effect that it is illegal for aliens to draw state funds as teachers did not apply to the university. It is said all Canadians and other aliens have received their salaries regularly.

AUSTRIA DENIES REPORT.

Vienna, via Berlin to London, March 16.—(1:09 a. m.)—Official denial has been issued here of the widespread report that Czernowitz, capital of Bukovina was abandoned by the Austrians on March 12.

GUNBOAT LEAVES PORT
BEFORE NOTE ARRIVESWILSON DEMANDS THAT BLOCKADE
OF PROGRESO BE LIFTED

Zaragoza Puts Back to Vera Cruz and No Further Attempt at a Blockade Is Expected—American Note Is Emphatic.

Washington, Mar. 15.—President Wilson has determined that all the rival factions in Mexico shall be compelled, if necessary not only to respect the lives and property of foreigners but to insure freedom of commercial communication between the United States and its southern neighbor. This policy, enunciated in the last two notes sent to General Carranza concerning the situation at Mexico City, was further developed by the dispatch of a communication informing the Mexican chief that unless the gunboat Zaragoza was recalled from its attempted blockade of the port of Progreso, the president of the United States "would be constrained to issue instructions" to the commander of the armored cruiser Des Moines "to prevent any interference" with American ships going to or from the port.

Purpose is Apparently Achieved. The purpose of this note apparently was achieved before it reached Vera Cruz for the navy department received word today that the Zaragoza had put back to Vera Cruz "on account of the stress of weather." The opinion of officials is that there will be no further attempt to blockade.

The American note was couched in terms as emphatic as the warning concerning conditions in Mexico City, relieved by the evacuation of Oregon. It set forth that if the American cruiser found it necessary to take steps to prevent interference with American ships such a policy should not be interpreted as having any relation to "internal affairs in Mexico" but in "the interest of peace and amity" between the two countries.

Conditions Bad at Manzanillo. With the situation at Progreso apparently clearing up disposing of the threatened cutting off of the Sisal hemp supply needed for harvesting the American grain crop the Washington government tonight was confronted with a troublesome condition of affairs at Manzanillo, a port on the west coast of Mexico.

The British consul there has appealed through the British embassy here for a British man of war. He says the German consul joins him in the request as the condition of foreigners is "unbearable" and no American man of war are nearby. This message was transmitted to the British consul by wireless through Admiral Howard of the Pacific fleet who at the same time took up the situation with the navy department. The American Cruiser Cleveland has now arrived at Manzanillo and it is believed here she will be able to deal with the situation there without the aid of other warships.

MANY LEAVING GERMANY.

Copenhagen, via London, March 15.—(9:25 p. m.)—The hotels and the better class boarding houses here are crowded with well-to-do Germans who are ineligible for military service. It is said that those people responding to an appeal from the government are leaving Germany in large numbers in order that there will be fewer people to feed while the war lasts.

It is reported from Sweden and Norway that many other Germans of similar class have arrived in those countries.

LINCOLN BEACHEY PLUNGES TO DEATH IN SAN FRANCISCO BAY

Righting of Plane After Perpendicular Drop of Several Thousand Feet Causes Wings to Crumple Like a Collapsed Umbrella.

San Francisco, Cal., March 15.—The spectacular career of Lincoln Beachey, one of the most daring of American aviators, was ended yesterday when he fell to his death at the Panama-Pacific Exposition grounds in sight of approximately 50,000 spectators.

Beachey was completing his second flight of the day when the accident occurred. On the first flight all went well and the aviator's familiar tricks were indulged in, with the exception of the perpendicular drop. This Beachey had saved for the climax. It proved too much of a strain for the frame of the monoplane.

The machine was at an altitude of about 7,000 feet when Beachey shut off his power. For several thousand feet it dropped head-on for the earth and then the aviator grasped his control levers to adjust the planes for the graceful descent which had characterized his previous flights.

At that point the wings crumpled like a collapsed umbrella, and, the aeroplane turning over and over in its fall, plunged in San Francisco bay, narrowly missing a vessel lying at the government transport dock.

BRYAN WITNESSES THOUSANDS OF TEMPERANCE PLEDGES

Are Poured upon the Secretary in a Perfect Stream at Meeting in Sunday Tabernacle in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, March 15.—Kneeling on the platform in the tabernacle erected here for the Rev. William A. Sunday and using the evangelist's pulpit as a writing table, Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan tonight signed as witness thousands of pledges given by men and boys never to use intoxicating liquor as a beverage. The pledges were poured upon the secretary of state in a perfect stream by members of a congregation of nearly 20,000 he had addressed at a meeting under the auspices of the national abstainers union. The first to bring their cards forward were a group of high school boys seated directly in front of the rostrum but the crush speedily became so great that a force of police had to be called to preserve order and Mr. Bryan who began by signing his full name was obliged to inscribe only his initials.

The meeting at which Mr. Bryan was chief speaker was the first of a series to be held in the principal cities and towns in the country in a movement which originated with the temperance committee of the federal council of churches.

WOMAN AND FOUR CHILDREN
ARE ATTACKED; THREE DIE

All of the Victims are Beaten With a Flat Iron—Two Other Children Are Not Expected to Live.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 15.—Mrs. Mary C. Balding and four of her children were attacked, supposedly by a maniac, Sunday night as they lay asleep. Two of the children were killed, the mother died late today and two other children are so seriously injured that physicians say they cannot recover. All of the victims were beaten on the right side of the head with a flat iron. An infant clasped in Mrs. Balding's arms escaped injury. A neighbor, who peered through the windows today discovered the crime. In the front room the lifeless body of Celeste, 9 years old was lying on the floor. On a couch in the same were the unconscious forms of Clifford, 13, and Irene, 3, each suffering from a fractured skull.

The body of Thomas, 11, was discovered lying at the foot of his mother's bed in the next room Mrs. Balding, her head crushed but still breathing lay on the bed and in her arms was the uninjured baby.

The fire is still burning fiercely.

BILL WOULD PROHIBIT
PRE-ELECTION PLEDGESGREGORY'S HOUSE MEASURE WOULD MAKE SUCH ACTION BRIBERY

Would Also Prohibit Soliciting Such Pledges—Speaker Announces House Will be in Session Five Days in Every Week, Beginning Monday Evening.

Springfield, Ill., March 15.—Declaring that pre-election promises had caused some representatives to take action against their own wishes during the seven weeks speakership session, Representative Charles A. Gregory of Livingston, a Republican, today introduced in the lower house of the legislature a bill which would prohibit candidates for the legislature from making any oral or written pledge or promise regarding their actions if elected.

Action Would Constitute Bribery. Such action under the provisions of the bill would constitute bribery and would be punishable by a fine of from $200 to $1,000 or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than sixty days or both. The measure also would prohibit persons, clubs, leagues, firms or corporations from soliciting such pledges.

However, a provision in the bill provides that any candidate may publicly outline his position regarding any bill or measure that may come before the general assembly or with regards to the organization of the house to which he is elected. The measure would not prevent any person, society, corporation or league from announcing their choice of candidates. The bill, however, specifically prohibits candidates for the legislature from making pledges for the support or opposition of any candidate for office necessary to perfect the organization of their branch of the general assembly.

Introduce Nine New Bills. Nine new bills were introduced in the house today. The session began shortly after five o'clock this evening and lasted less than half an hour. Speaker Shanahan has announced that hereafter the house will be in session five days in every week, beginning at five o'clock Monday evening and adjourning some time Friday.

Consideration by the house of the resolution providing for the submission to the voters of a proposition for the holding of a constitutional convention has been postponed from Wednesday afternoon to some time in the near future, probably next week. It was expected tonight that the house appropriations committee may be ready to report out tomorrow or next day a substitute for the Curtis bill appropriating $1,500,000 as the state's share in the foot and mouth epidemic expense.

When the senate meets Wednesday the Democrats will be shy another vote in their opposition to attempts of the Republicans to name the senate standing committees.

May Begin Another Filibuster. Senator Edward Glacken of Chicago was reported to be seriously ill, threatened with pneumonia. It was considered probable today that the Democratic senators would begin another filibuster in an attempt to prevent the Republicans from accomplishing their ends.

Present charges for automobile and motorcycle licenses would be doubled under a bill introduced by Representative D. D. Donahue of Bloomington.

Representative G. A. Dahlburg of Chicago offered a measure providing that applicants for appointment as notary public first obtain a certificate from the county judge as to their moral character.

Representative O'Rourke of Chicago offered a bill providing for the appointment instead of election of supervisors assessors, town clerks, town collectors and highway commissioners in Cook county.

Representative Igoe of Chicago announced that he will attempt this week to have the house consider his bill adding six circuit court judges in Cook county.

EXPULSION FROM ASSEMBLY

Denver, Colo., March 15.—Representative W. W. Howland was expelled from membership in the general assembly late today on a charge of perjury. This action was taken when the house adopted the report of the special committee which investigated charges that Howland received a package of money, Feb. 9th.

FIXES ADJOURNMENT DATE.

Des Moines, Iowa, Mar. 16.—The senate passed a resolution today calling for final adjournment on April 17th. The resolution was in the form of a notice to the house that a sittings committee will not be needed by the senate for some time.

Senator Hoke Smith Says Move
Is "Utterly Intolerable"—Refusal of Proposals Kills Hopes

OFFICIAL TEXT IS AWAITED

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Great Britain's order-in-council explaining her embargo on all commerce between Germany and neutral countries was received with such evident disappointment by high officials of the United States government that a strong protest against its terms was considered in official quarters as certain to be made soon.

Senator Hoke Smith, who saw President Wilson late today said afterwards that the British order-in-council was "high handed and utterly intolerable."

Destroys Hopes of President.

The arrival of the British order together with news of the flat rejection by Great Britain and her allies of the informal proposals of the United States for the abandonment by Germany of her submarine warfare if England permitted foodstuffs to go to the civilian population of enemy countries destroyed the hopes of President Wilson and his advisers for the early improvement of conditions for the neutral commerce of the world.

With much interest the official text was awaited. Germany's acceptance of practically all the American suggestions had raised the expectations of officials that the allies might do likewise. The United States government had undertaken to guarantee that the foodstuffs would be distributed only to the civilian population of Germany through the supervision of authorized organizations. While the British order-in-council explains some of the points made in the note of inquiry from the United States concerning prohibition on commercial intercourse between Germany and the United States, the fact that an additional memorandum not yet received here had been given to Ambassador Page left the hope that dye stuffs would be exempted from the prohibition as requested in the American note and that further details as to shipments of cotton would be furnished.

Officials declined to comment to any extent on the British order, but their displeasure over its contents was apparent. They declared that no steps would be taken until the orders' provisions had been studied carefully but it was pointed out that the effect on American commerce was far reaching and that there was no precedent for Great Britain's action.

DUBLIN, via London, Mar. 15.—(8:20 p. m.)—The Dublin city council by a vote of 30 to 18, withdrew today from Kuno Meyer, of the University of Berlin the freedom of the city in order to indicate "disapproval of the anti-British campaign he had been conducting in America."

He is an authority on Celtic philology and founded the school of Irish learning at Dublin for the promotion of the old Irish language and literature. Grant at Appomattox on April 9, and the invitation was accepted by the corps. John Minter of the post was also a visitor and made a very interesting talk. He spoke of how thankful he was when a young man, and said that he had never quite outgrown it, otherwise he would be able to make a better talk than he did. Nevertheless his address was very enjoyable. Mrs. Melton also made a short address which was much appreciated. Comrades from the Post will be welcome visitors at the corps meetings at any time.

FREE AREA DIVISION NOW AT CHICAGO STOCK YARDS

New Order Will Make Resumption of Shipments East Possible—Conditions in Illinois Best Since Last Fall.

A "free area" division was opened in the Chicago Union Stock Yards Monday, in which yards only cattle from free territory will be yarded, and these will be eligible for shipping competition from New York, New England and Pennsylvania buyers.

The "free area" division will be located in the southern portion of the yards behind the board fence erected last fall for the "quarantine division."

That section of the yards has been thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. Every inch of the pens, fences, gates, feed troughs and hay racks has been washed and disinfected, and an army of men were engaged in spraying the pens and fences a second time.

Final work in preparation for the opening of the "free area" was done under supervision of Dr. A. W. Miller, federal inspector, who announced Friday night that he would be able to give the "free area" a clean bill of health at the conclusion of the work Monday.

Will Open Eastern Market.

Action by Chicago in establishing a free area will automatically open the eastern outlet. Dr. C. J. Marshall, state veterinarian, and Governor Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania, stated last week to the Farmers and Drivers Journal representative that as soon as Chicago set aside a part of the yards for free or restricted area stock, they would permit such shipments to be moved into and through the state.

The "free area" yards will be exclusively for cattle from Missouri, Nebraska, South Dakota and North Dakota, Minnesota and Montana, and as well as for cattle from all excepting the eastern tier of nine counties in Iowa, which latter territory is either restricted, exposed or modified area. Kansas cattle can also come into the free area excepting stock from four counties now under federal quarantine.

Nothing can be yarded in the free area division which originates in any section of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan or Ohio, since those states possess no territory now classified as "free" under the bureau of animal industry regulations. Upon arrival of "mixed trains" at the yards, hauling "free area," as well as modified, restricted or exposed stock, they will be split up and stocks from free areas will be yarded in the free section of the Yards.

BETTER PRICES PROMISED

The trade anticipates price premiums to prevail in the "free area" market for cattle as a result of the hungry demand from the east, which can logically be expected to prevail, but it is consistently believed that a division of the trade at this time will as well have effect in helping to strengthen demand in "local slaughter" end of the market, inasmuch as the separating of free area from stock originating in other divisions will have effect in stimulating the local slaughter demand by reason of small supplies offered in that trade.

"Big eastern" cattle shippers received the announcement of the free area division with strong approval, since it permits resumption of normal business here on their part and will relieve the necessity of sending buyers broadcast over the country in search of "free area" stock.

Dr. S. E. Bennett, chief of the federal forces working in Illinois, returned to Chicago today from a trip over this state and also into Iowa. He brought encouraging news of the situation from all points. Dr. Bennett declared that the last infected herd in Illinois was killed in Ogle county Friday, and that not a single new outbreak had been reported since last Monday.

This is the longest period of freedom from new cases since the original outbreaks last fall.

Daniels, in the hearing on the application of 41 western railroad systems for increases in freight rates on certain commodities. London, March 16.—(2:18 a. m.)—An eye-witness account of the operations on the allied fleet in the Gulf of Smyrna is sent by the Daily Telegraph's Mitylene correspondent who cruised around the gulf in a motor boat and obtained details of the bombardment of Smyrna from a Greek school master. The school master was a refugee on an island from which an excellent panoramic view of the inner bay of Smyrna is obtainable, although the city is nearly sixteen miles distant.

DEFENSE LOSES POINT IN TERRE HAUTE ELECTION FRAUD CASE

Court Decides in Favor of Prosecution When Question of Admitting as Evidence Conversations Between Co-Conspirators Regarding Election Contest Fund After Election, Comes Up.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 15.—The defense in the Terre Haute election fraud case lost a point late today when the question of admitting as evidence conversations between co-conspirators regarding the election contest fund after the election came up again.

Ben Murray, a negro saloon keeper, was asked by United States District Attorney Frank C. Dailey if John Nugent, assistant chief of police, until he pleaded guilty, had asked him for money to fight the election contest filed against Judge Eli H. Redman. A. O. Stanley for the defense objected, as he did to a similar question last Friday, on the ground that the contest occurred after the election and therefore had no connection with the alleged conspiracy. Mr. Dailey stated that the indictment charged that the defendants conspired, among other things, to defraud the state of Indiana out of the salary of the judge of the Vigo county circuit court and that the evidence regarding the contest suit was competent.

Judge Anderson permitted the witness to answer the question and Mr. Stanley then moved to strike out that part of the answer dealing with the contest. The motion, according to the court did not specifically state what part of the answer was wanted stricken out and Judge Anderson ordered the attorneys to proceed.

PREDICTS END OF RAILWAY ACCIDENTS IN FIVE YEARS

President of Railway Signal Association Addresses Meeting in Chicago.

Chicago, March 15.—Predictions that within five years there would be no more railway accidents except those due to human fallibility were made today by T. S. Stevens, president of the Railway Signal association which began its annual meeting here. In addition, the National Railway appliance exposition, the signal appliance association, the American Railway Engineering association, the Roadmasters and Maintenance of Way association and the Western Division of the Railway Telegraph Superintendents association are in session here.

More than 10,000 railwaymen and railway manufacturers will attend the various conventions, all working with the general aim of decreasing or eliminating the hazard in railway operation. Announcements of a $1,500,000 contracts for the installation of 400 miles of mechanical control apparatus on the Brooklyn Subway and Coney Island lines was made at the appliance exposition. The system to be installed practically relieves the engineer or motorman from responsibility. It is said and makes it impossible for him to operate at dangerous speed. It makes possible the running of a greater number of trains, it was announced.

It was learned tonight that, after Thaw had been returned to the Tombs his counsel, made ready a writ of habeas corpus for the signature of a supreme court justice.

Under the writ counsel admitted, the question of Thaw's sanity probably will be argued provided Justice Page tomorrow directs that Thaw be returned to Matteawan.

HORSE FEEDERS

WOOD'S IMPROVED GRAIN SOFTENER Pat. Jan. 8th, 1915.

We find after several tests on feeding horses, softened grain with all its strength retained in it, is the best feed for a horse that can be fed. It keeps them in a healthier condition, and they will drive better, do more work, look better, beside we save one-third the feed. I will furnish one plant in each town, one on 30 days free trial to prove my claims, and I will furnish one of my plants in each county, on 30 days free trial to prove it is the best cattle feed, and the slop of the mush fed cattle the best hog feed. A little soda is good for all classes of stock; helps them digest their feed. I ask all cattle feeders and horse feeders to try one.

2 gallons of corn with the cob in it cooked will make all any steer can eat, and gain 3 1-2 to 4 pounds per day, if clover is fed with it in dry lots.

1 gallon with the cob in it makes a day's feed for a horse.

1 gallon corn with ground clover in it feeds a hog a day.

BIG INTER-SCHOLASTIC HIGH SCHOOL TRACK MEET! HERE FIRST OF MAY

Track Athletes of Two Hundred Towns Invited to Compete on Illinois College Field--Beautiful Medals to Be Awarded--Meet Promises to Be Second Only to U. of I. Contest.

Folders have just been issued by the Athletic Association of Illinois College, to the athletes of 200 High schools inviting them to compete in the First Annual Interscholastic Track and Field Meet to be held on Illinois College Field on Saturday, May 1st.

The meet is intended primarily to afford competition for the High schools of Central Illinois and consequently most of the schools lie within a radius of 90 miles of Jacksonville.

Any High school, however, which observes the eligibility rules of the Illinois Interscholastic Athletic Association is welcome to enter a team or an individual competitor. Committees are busy working out the details of the contest on such a comprehensive scale that the meet promises to be second only to the University of Illinois Interscholastic Meet.

The track and field events which will be contested are:

100 yard dash.
 220 yard dash.
 440 yard run.
 Half mile.
 Mile.
 120 yard high hurdles.
 220 yard low hurdles.
 Putting 12 pound shot.
 Throwing 12 pound hammer.
 Throwing discus.
 Running high jump.
 Running broad jump.
 Pole vault.
 Throwing javelin.
 First place in any of these events counts five points; second place, three points, and third place, one point.

To Give Medals.

Beautiful gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to the winners of first, second and third places, respectively, in the above track and field events. A handsome loving cup, 14 inches high, will go to the school which scores the highest number of points. Another cup, 11 inches high, will be presented to the team winning the second highest number of points.

Individual Athlete Prize.

A special cup, 12 inches high, will be awarded to the individual athlete who scores the largest number of points.

There will be a half-mile championship Relay race for teams of four men, each man to run 220 yards. The relay race is not counted in the scoring of points. Beautiful loving cups will be given to the individual members of the relay team.

Interest Aroused in Meet.

That there is already considerable interest aroused in the coming meet is shown by the fact that even before the official announcement was made concerning the contest, a number of inquiries have been received by Athletic Director W. T. Harmon, relative to the meet, from High school officials who had learned indirectly that such a meet was being planned.

Since Jacksonville is so accessible over the Chicago & Alton, Wabash, Burlington, and Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis railroads a very large number of schools will compete. It is certain that the Illinois Field will be lively place on May 1, and there is not a better track in Central Illinois.

THE BROOKLYN REVIVAL

"He That Saveth Souls is Wise" Says Pastor Monday Night.

Good interest attends the beginning of the revival series at Brooklyn M. E. church and the attendance at the first two meetings, Sunday and Monday nights, promises well for the labors of the evangelist, the Rev. W. W. Theobald. Sunday night the speaker dwelt upon the necessity for a revival, pointed out that the Lord will do his part when all work faithfully and designated the things which make for worldliness and which a true religious revival would tend to discourage. Music was furnished by a choir of twenty voices, lead by the Rev. H. F. Cusic, and by Miss Mary Lindsey, who gave an excellent vocal solo.

"He that winneth souls is wise," quoted Mr. Theobald last evening in announcing the subject of a strong discourse. Salvation is given as a trust. We can keep the gift hidden or we can follow out divine intent by passing it on.

HERMAN'S GRAND SPRING OPENING TOMORROW, EVERYBODY WELCOME.

J. R. WATT WILL LEAVE Y. M. C. A. WORK AND ENGAGE IN BUSINESS

Purchases Crispette Shop From Robert W. Strong and Will Take Possession Monday—Mr. Strong Will Return to Chicago.

James R. Watt, for five years secretary of the Jacksonville Y. M. C. A., has announced his intention of retiring from association work and will go into business with his son, Horatio C. Watt. He has purchased the Crispette shop on East State street from Robert W. Strong and will, with his son, take possession Monday, March 22. Mr. Strong will return to Chicago, whence he came six months ago and established the East State street confectionary. Mr. Watt plans to extend the business and the firm will continue to run the peanut and pop corn wagon which H. C. Watt has conducted on the Farrell corner.

Mr. Watt will probably be released from the secretaryship of the Y. M. C. A., at a meeting of the directors within a few days and will devote his time to his new business. No plans as to his successor have been announced but it is understood that the directors will confer with the state association, through F. M. Deerbake, state field man, before attempting to reach a definite decision.

WHEN YOU WASH YOUR HAIR DON'T USE SOAP

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulled coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

TAKES FEDERAL INJUNCTION CASE UNDER ADVISEMENT

Judge Baldwin to Give a Decision in Kansas City's Fight For Franchise Wednesday Morning.

Chicago, Mar. 15.—After listening to final arguments today by attorneys for both sides of the fight between the Federal League and the Kansas City club over the transfer of the latter's franchise to New York, N. J., Judge Jesse A. Baldwin, in the circuit court announced that he would take the case under advisement until Wednesday morning, when he would render a decision.

"Our contention is that the franchise of the Kansas City club was not legally forfeited at the meeting of the board of managers in New York City Oct. 23d, 1914," said John M. Zane, the attorney representing the Kansas City club, in his argument, asking that the temporary injunction issued Feb. 25th, restraining the Federal League from transferring the Kansas City club franchise be made permanent.

"This meeting was illegal because it was not held in January as the articles of the league provide," continued Mr. Zane. "Secondly it was illegal because Mr. Madison, president of the Kansas City club, was not allowed to take part in the meeting of the board of managers although he was recorded as present."

"The franchise agreement which allowed the league to dispose of the franchise of any club upon default of payment was never accepted by the Kansas City club. The agreement also states that the franchise of the club may be forfeited by a majority vote of the board of managers. The other side has never produced any evidence to show that this action was taken. In the Federal League's suit against organized baseball now pending before Federal Judge Landis, the Kansas City club was asked by the league to sign a petition of intervention as one of the constituent members of the league. This petition was signed and presented among others to Judge Landis. This is practically an admission of the part of the league that the Kansas City club is one of its members."

MOVIE CITY OPEN TO THE PUBLIC NOW.

Most Unique Municipality in World is in California.

Los Angeles, Calif., Mar. 15.—The most unique city in the world, built, owned and governed by moving picture people, was thrown open to the public today. The event was celebrated by a monster parade in Los Angeles and a demonstration of the wonders of moving picture making in the newest city of the West. Universal City is the name of the movie town which became a municipality today. It was built exclusively as a moving picture city, and there is no other occupation in the town. It is the product of the imagination of Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Film Company, who about two years ago came west and purchased a barren ranch for his purpose. Sewer systems, parks, boulevards, theatres, restaurants, churches, homes—everything one sees in any other city—were provided for, and today the new town shone radiantly in its decorations and floral displays.

Several mountains, a few rivers, forest, lakes, and other scenery necessary to the background of the movie drama are included in the attractions.

The parade here today surpassed anything ever shown by the Wild West circuses. Cowboys, rangers, Mexicans, soldiers, artillerymen, Indians and other picturesque members of the movie troupe, to the number of 1700, held the center of attraction. Four calliope furnished the music. Floats depicted the movie drama in all its details. The comedy gang were knocking each other down, the slap-stick was in vigorous use, and the strong-armed housewife was in her glory.

The animals were second in interest. Elephants, ostriches, camels and wild beasts occupied much of the two miles of the parade. Several hundred native Hindus in costume rode on the elephants and camels.

The day was a big one at Universal City. An all-day revel is in progress, the visitors being guests of the movie stars. The special entertainment of the day was the filming of an enormous flood scene, in which an entire village was washed away by the breaking of a reservoir. Then the visitors saw the movie men stage an attack on a blockhouse by the Indians, and heard the guns pop. Tonight a grand ball will be given in the artificial light studio. Tomorrow is also given over to the visitors, and guides will conduct small parties to all sections of the movie city. Twenty sight-seeing cars will carry the visitors from Los Angeles to Universal City and back. Tomorrow night a banquet in honor of the movie men will be given in Nat Goodwin's Cafe.

OHIO BEAUTY BRINGS CHARGES
Detroit, Mich., March 15.—The charges of assault brought by "The Prettiest Girl in Ohio," Miss Irene Conway-Palmer, against Allyn Sherrick, a Detroit artist, will be heard today before a jury. The episode which brought about the charges took place in the Sherrick studio. The noted beauty, who recently won a prize contest as the prettiest girl in Ohio, called in answer to an advertisement for a model. She declared to the police that Sherrick's methods in measuring the applicant were objectionable to her, and his attentions quite superfluous.

FAMOUS HOFFMAN HOUSE WILL CLOSE

New York, March 15.—The Hoffman House, one of the oldest of New York's "down-town" hostleries, and famous for a half century as a political and social center, closes its doors today. The famous hotel, where President Cleveland and other notables held forth in the old days, must give way to the march of progress, and it will be torn down to furnish the site for a sixteen story office building.

Incidentally, the heirs of the estate will receive some $3,500,000, from an investment of $5,000 made by Francis S. Kinney, the original owner, for the entire block front in Broadway between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets. Those who share in the fortune are Mrs. La Montaigne of Paris, Warren Kinney and Morris Kinney.

The original Hoffman House was built just a half century ago. It was one of the most popular and most famous hotels in the city. In its best days it vied with the Fifth Avenue as great political headquarters. The Fifth Avenue was the rendezvous of the Republicans and the Democrats made their headquarters at the Hoffman House. Grover Cleveland stopped there frequently, and was living there when he was elected to the Presidency for his second term. General Benjamin F. Butler and Winfield Scott made the hotel their home on many occasions.

Connected with the hotel management at one time was Edward S. Stokes, who shot James Fisk, Jr., in 1872 and served four years in Sing Sing for it. It was there that Stokes improved his acquaintance with President Cleveland, and through this friendship the President restored him to citizenship in 1884. Stokes had general charge of the management, and it was he who fitted up the famous Hoffman House bar-room which was one of the sights of the city which no visitor missed. Its walls were hung with costly paintings.

Since the retirement of Stokes, the hotel movement has been away from the down town section of the city, and the hotel has not been a financial success. Few of the old employees were on hand today to witness the formal closing of the famous hotel.

Vienna, via Amsterdam to London, March 15.—(11:30 p. m.)—The following official communication was issued today:
"In the western Carpathians Sunday was calm.
"North of the Uszok Pass there was fighting of a furious character. Strong Russian forces made an attack there yesterday and advanced to near our positions, where for a time they maintained themselves.
"Our troops during the afternoon made a counter attack throwing back the enemy on the entire front and capturing four officers and 500 men.
"On our positions on both sides of Oper Valley the enemy reinforced, repeatedly tried to gain the heights but failed with heavy losses. An especially heavy attack collapsed Sunday and in view of the losses these offensives probably will not be repeated. A thousand prisoners were taken in this battle. South of the Dniester our counter-attacks gained ground the Russians being pushed back from several front sectors.
"In Poland and west Galicia there have been only artillery duels."

EUROPEAN WAR NOTES

Berlin, March 12.—by wireless to Sayville.—Reports from Milan to the Overseas News Agency says that Greece has protested to the British and French governments against the use of Greek Islands as points of support in the bombardment by the allied fleet of the Dardanelles.

Berlin, March 15.—by wireless to Sayville.—In the main hall of the criminal court building in Alt-Moabit yesterday the first divine service for refugees from the regions of East Prussia devastated by the Russians was held. Several young persons were confirmed and a number of children were baptised.

London, March 15.—(8:20 p. m.)—Baron Newton suggested in the House of Lords today that American government be asked to make inquiries concerning the treatment of British prisoners in Germany.

Earl Beauchamp, speaking in behalf of the British government, said there was reason to hope that the German government would sanction this government's proposal that United States officials should supervise the distribution of relief provided by Great Britain for British prisoners in Germany.

London, March 15.—(9:40 p. m.)—A Reuter despatch from Berlin by way of Amsterdam quotes the German minister of the interior and vice-chancellor, Clemens Delbrueck, as declaring in a speech in the upper chamber, Germany's intention to continue the war until she obtained the guarantees she desired.

"If we were satisfied merely with reaping the enemy," said the Vice-chancellor, "we should soon have peace. But we cannot rest satisfied with that alone, we shall not sheath the sword until we obtain guarantees that our enemies will not attack us again. Discussion of these guarantees at the present moment would not further German interests."

Petrograd, March 15.—via London, (7:50 p. m.)—The Russian war office today issued the following statement:

"On the whole front in the region of Przasnysz, from the Mawa railway to the Orze river and on the left bank of the latter river we progressed fighting all the way. German counter-attacks everywhere have been repulsed.
"The guns of the Ossowetz fortress have put out of action several German siege batteries of heavy caliber which have been installed within range of the fortress.
"On the left bank of the Vistula river there has been no fighting.
"In the Carpathian Mountains generally speaking there have been no changes.
"Austrian attacks in the direction of Baligród and German attacks on hill, on 992, near Kozlowka, have been repulsed.
"In East Galicia our troops threw the enemy back in the region to the north of Obertyn.
"There has been an artillery duel at Przemyśl."

FRANK MANN'S SOIL BOOK
"A Fertile Soil Is The Basis of Profitable Farming" (Authority for the publication of this and succeeding chapters of Frank Mann's book secured from Prairie Farmer Publishing Company.)
PART III.
The Art of Agriculture.
Any discussion of the methods used in the art of agriculture is made difficult by the large number of combinations that can be made when the weather, the climate, the soil, the crops, and the farmer himself
are factors, and nothing said here
is intended to be absolutely "foolproof." It is intended to offer a few suggestions that may call the attention of the busy farmer to some of those things in every day affairs, which in his haste and hurry he may have overlooked, and which should be considered only when in harmony with common and normal combinations of the various factors.
The Drainage.
On the so-called level land and on the gently undulating land, having a reasonably previous subsoil, the first essential for good crop production is a good system of tile drainage. Definite information as to what would make an adequate system for a given piece of land, would be impossible without knowing the character of the subsoil, the amount of grade that could be secured, and the contour. The size of the main strings will depend on the amount of grade that can be given, the amount of land to be drained in them, and the "lay of the land"—the size of the depressions where the water garthers in ponds. Capacity should be given the main system so as to remove all standing water within 12 to 24 hours after a "flood." The sub-mains that follow the natural depressions other than the mains,
should be large enough to carry all
the water furnished by the lateral strings to the main string within twelve hours. The size will depend on the grade and the area drained
by the sub-mains and its laterals,
and usually nothing smaller than six inch tile are used. The lateral strings should run parallel with each other, and branch off from the sub-mains.
The distance apart between later-
als will be modified by the character of the subsoil, but consideration should be given to the changing tendency of the subsoil to drain less readily. Land that many years ago would drain fairly well with the laterals 150 feet apart, will not now drain so well with laterals 100 feet apart. As the humus becomes more and more deplete the distance required between lateral strings will be affected. Even where the humus has been fairly well maintained a distance of four or five rods between laterals has been found to be desirable. The size of the tile for the lateral strings is not controlled by the amount of water to be carried by them, usually, but by the "crack space"—the cracks between tile—to let water enter, and by the ability to overcome the accumulations of sediment. Five inch tile are most desirable for laterals, though four-inch are more largely used, and prove satisfactory for at least 40 years, as long as experience goes on Bois d'Arc farm. A system of this kind, where both the low and high ground is included, will provide thorough drainage, and will cost not far from $200 an acre.
While tile drains laid deep in the ground will drain a greater distance
on each side, and this plan is frequently recommended by drainage
engineers, it is found that the soil
near tile not laid so deep is as well drained, stands drouth better, and keeps in better physical condition.
From 20 to 36 inches in depth has given the best satisfaction, one year
with another, though it requires that there be less distance between strings, and consequently more tile.
Some advantages of thorough drainage are: a deeper porosity of the soil, thereby extending more deeply the zone of liberation of plant food; an encouragement of the bacterial actions in the soil; more efficient results in all soil operations
as plowing, disking and cultivating;
the ability to work such a soil at the right season, without being delayed by wet places; a lack of germination of weed seeds; and economy of labor.
Where water stands on a crop for any length of time, there seems to be a deadening of the soil activities,
and a standstill in the growth of the crop for some time thereafter, which is probably caused by the destruction of the soil bacteria, and the washing away of available plant food certainly of nitrates, so that the crop practically stands still in its growth until more plant food becomes liberated. Such a loss in the growth of a crop may mean the difference between a poor crop and a good one.
Having to wait a few days longer
after a heavy rain for some wet spot in the field to dry up, may mean not only a loss of time with the farm help, but it means several days
start for the weeds or a loss of several days' growth of the crop. The seeds of some of the most common weeds require excessive moisture conditions for their germination.
Drainage is one of the greatest aids
in overcoming weed injuries, because of its lack of germination of the seeds, and because of the greater ease with which they are destroyed
in the process of cultivation.
It is only well drained fields that can depend on being able to do
the early early disking that is so efficient in preventing certain insect injuries.
Plowing.
No definite rules can be established as to the depth which ground
should be plowed, because it is affected by so many different conditions. Probably the most valuable results of plowing is to give aeration
which increases the bio-chemical actions in the soil. A plowed and well pulsitized soil gives better opportunities for these activities, which are essential.
Another effect from plowing comes from the fact that a loose, porous soil has a greater moisture holding capacity. These facts are the foundation of the arguments of the advocates of deep and subsoil plowing.
Another fact that must be taken in-
to consideration in the same connection, is that the root development does not take place so well in a soil that is too porous and too loose. While the arguments for deep and subsoil plowing are attractive, the results are frequently disappointing. The conditions or combination of factors that exist,
may, however, greatly modify the results.
Even though one result of deep
plowing may be to increase the ability of the soil to hold capillary moisture, this may not always be a benefit, as under some common conditions it is possible that any benefit that might arise from an increase in the supply of capillary moisture would be counterbalanced by the greater dilution of the plant food materials. There are times and conditions when such increase in capillary moisture may be beneficial to a crop, but with normal rainfall and ordinary weather conditions the amount of capillary moisture is likely to be excessive much of the season
for best crop production.
There may be some advantage in rather deep plowing for the sake of getting plant food deeper in the soil, in order to extend the feeding zone of the root system. As is well known, roots develop where there is plant food, and when plant food is turned under deeper there seems to be a deeper development of the roots of the grain crops. There should be, however, a thorough compacting of the soil following any such deep plowing. Some work is being done on this phase of deep plowing after heavy applications of mineral elements of plant food, and some results will be secured during the next few years.
Another purpose of plowing is to get vegetable matter into the soil,
and again the depth of plow is modified by the conditions. The conditions most liable to modify the results from deep plowing are: the kind of season following whether wet or dry; the amount of humus in the soil, and especially the humus in the subsoil; the character of the subsoil; and the methods of tillage that follow. On land where clover has been grown in rotation, and the subsurface and the subsoil kept reasonably porous and loose from clover
roots; and where considerable vegetable matter is usually plowed under,
the experience on Bois d'Arc
farm has favored a medium depth of plowing.
A number of years ago a subsoil plow was tried. A special plow was made with a subsoil attachment,
which would merely lift and loosen from four to six inches below the turned furrow. With this plow the soil was loosened to a depth of twelve to fourteen inches. Twenty acres were also plowed with two plows. One plow turned a furrow from nine to ten inches deep, and the other plow, which had but a snare and no mouldboard, followed in a furrow and lifted another six to twelve inches in depth. With these plows the soil was loosened to a depth of from 18 to 20 inches.
The crop results from all this deep plowing was a disappointment and it was several years before this land got back to its normal productivness. Where no clover or deep rooting crop is grown, and there be more or less of a "plow pan" formed; and on some kinds of soil deep and subsoil plowing may be very desirable. It is well to be conservative, however, and not change a method of plowing except under a complete demonstration with comparable conditions.
The time of plowing is greatly modified by different conditions.
Where the soil contains much clay,
and is not easily pulverized when plowed in the spring, it is desirable
to plow in the fall, and let the freezing weather go to the pulverizing. Soils that run together again during the winter into a mass as compact as before plowing will give better results when plowed in the spring.
Early fall plowing or plowing done in the late summer, is to be recommended only under certain conditions. When the weather conditions are such that a growth of weeds or a volunteer grain growth
may develop, this may utilize the plant food as it may become available and through its decay, turn it over to the following crop. When no such growth is made during the time of fallow, much of the available plant food is carried away in the drainage waters. When plowing is done late in the fall the soil activities are at a minimum hereafter,
and the loss of plant food less during the winter. Another advantage of plowing late in the fall, is the effect on certain insects. Those insects which establish themselves for the winter above the plow line, are not likely to recover from the disturbance and exposure to the elements.
Cultivation.
There are many different ideas
and customs regarding methods of cultivation; and before one departs
far from established customs it might be well to wait for positive demonstrations. An understanding of certain conditions in the growth of crops is essential in applying the best methods. In the growth of a grain crop there is an enlargement of the stalk, leaves and root systems until about the time the grain commences to form, after which the enlargement ceases and the growth is one of transference

of plant food from the stalk and the formation of the starchy portions of the grain. The ability to form the grain is dependent somewhat on the extent to which the stalk has been supercharged with the plant food, and at which time
the demand on the soil for plant
food has been practically completed,
securing a strong growth of plants
during the early stages of development; and this requires the largest possible root development. The best development root system will occur when the full zone of aerated soil is accessible to the roots, and the root system will be diminished
when too much of the root zone is kept too dry and loose for root development. There is no question as to the conservation of moisture by a dust mulch, but when the mulch
is to be made from that part of the soil that has received the most aeration and consequently has the greatest amount of available plant food, it becomes a proposition of whether the surface is worth the most for the plant food in it, or
to use as a mulch for the conservation of moisture. Opinions and practices differ greatly, but the results at the Illinois Experiment Station for 11 years, indicate that the surface soil has more value when used for the plant food, than when used as a mulch. Series of plots have been conducted for 11 years.
On one series, the surface has been scraped only sufficiently to prevent the growth of weeds, and another series has been given ordinarily thorough cultivation. The total yield for 11 years on the scraped lots has been slightly larger than on the cultivated plots for the same time.
In the cultivation of corn there are three systems in use in the corn belt. One of them is the old-fashioned method of plowing deep with large shovel cultivators, which is still in more or less use. The idea in this method is to prepare a deep dust mulch, though it is more frequently practiced because the weeds
have become so large it is necessary to run them deep if the weeds are to be killed with such plows. This was the common method of cultivation previous to the experiments
made at the Illinois Experiment Station by Prof. Morrow about 25 years ago, in which shallow cultivation was shown to be the best. At that time there was a change in Illinois from deep to shallow cultivation, with a consequent increase in average production of corn for the State. The deep system is not now much used, as it destroys much of the root system, as well as depriving
the crop from deriving the plant
food from so much of the surface soil.
Another method of cultivation
more commonly used to cultivate deep the first time and shallow af-

Illinois Railroads to the People—No. 7.
Public Loss vs. Public Gain
Individual Saving Under the Two-Cent Law
Compared With Loss to the General Public
"The interest of the producer, the shipper, the merchant, the investor, the financier
and the whole public in the proper maintenance and complete efficiency of the railways is too manifest. They are indispensable to our whole economic life."—President Wilson.
The Railroads and Business
Whatever impedes brisk circulation of money in the buying and selling of merchandise and of labor is a brake on business, for all business is interdependent.
When the buying power of railroads is cut down, the entire community and all lines of business are adversely affected far more than by the slackening in any other industry, for two reasons:
1. Railroads are the largest buyers of labor and of merchandise (material and supplies).
2. A greater percentage of railroad expenditure than of expenditure in any other industry, goes directly and quickly back to the public in the channels of trade
Where Railroad Money Goes
Out of each dollar received by the railroads for the only thing they have to sell, which is transportation,
more than 95 cents goes back to the public immediately
to pay for carrying on the business.
Of this 95 cents, labor gets 44 cents, purchase of material and supplies from factory, forest and mine absorbs 25 cents, and the remainder goes for betterments, taxes, rentals and other fixed charges.
Even the little that remains for profit—surplus and dividends—which is a fraction less than 5 cents, goes back to the public; for the people as stockholders, own
the railroads and draw the dividends.
This distribution of railroad earnings is according to Interstate Commerce Commission computation.
Effect of Two-Cent Law
When the maximum rate of passenger fare in Illinois was cut from 3 cents a mile to 2 cents in 1907, railroad earnings were reduced by millions per year,
railroad buying power was correspondingly reduced
and all business correspondingly checked.
There is no reason for believing that Illinois railroads carried more passengers in 1913 at 2 cents a mile than they would have carried at 3 cents. Official Railroad and Warehouse Commission figures show
travel has not been stimulated by the reduction.
Millions Taken Out of Business
If these roads could have received in 1913 the same average rate per passenger per mile which they received in 1907, before the rate was cut, they would have had $6,287,738 more to be put back immediately
into the channels of trade.
Figure that every year for a period of years and reflect on what a wet blanket it has been for business.
What has the public gained to offset this loss?
What Compensating Gain?
The average distance traveled, per passenger, in Illinois in 1913 was 25.16 miles and the average fare paid was 44 cents. If the railroads could have had the net rate per mile which they had before the 2-cent law of 1907, the average fare per passenger in 1913
would have been 51 cents, or only 7 cents more than was paid. Who would feel that?
To the railroads of Illinois, whose prosperity is vital to the prosperity of the state, $6,287,738 a year means
the difference between progress and retrogression.
To the traveling public, it has meant an average saving of seven cents a year—a five-cent cigar and a postage stamp. Think this over.
Something for Nothing Impossible
The eternal law of compensation has not yet been repealed. In one way or another, we must pay for what we get in this world and we get only what we pay for.
The railroads have tried to live under reduced passenger revenues without letting the service go down.
They cannot continue indefinitely to do so.
Think this over and you will see, as President Wilson
does, that the whole public is interested in "the proper maintenance and complete efficiency of the railways."
Think this over and you will find no reasonable objection to the railroad request for a maximum legal fare of 2½ cents a mile.
For a maximum fare of 2½ cents a mile is absolutely essential, at this time, to "the proper maintenance and complete efficiency of the railways."
Railroad Welfare is Inseparable from Public Welfare

"Pape's Diapiesin" Ends Stomach
Misery, Indigestion in 5 Minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, or undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapiesin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why they relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapiesin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapiesin" cranks, as some people will call them but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes.—Advertisement.

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE IS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

If your child coughs, snuffles and has caught cold or is feverish or has a sore throat give a good dose of "California Syrup of Figs" to evacuate the bowels no difference what other treatment is given.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "Fruit Laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

CHAMINADE MUSIC CLUB HOLDS OPEN MEETING

Members and Friends Enjoy Program of Delightful Music Monday Afternoon.

The Chaminade Music club held an open meeting Monday afternoon in Brown's music rooms. There was a full attendance of members, and many invited guests, who enjoyed a delightful musical program. The club is just entering upon its 19th year since organization, and the members are all faithful, energetic and enthusiastic musicians. They fully appreciate the advantage and opportunity the club offers in the ambitious line of study arranged from year to year, to become familiar with the great composers and their works, as well as musical form and literature. The arrangement of programs always fine and interesting is this year especially of a high standard of excellence.

The Chaminade Music club will be represented by delegates at the ninth biennial festival and convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs to be held in Los Angeles next June.

The splendid piano ensemble program for the afternoon with beautiful selected songs was brilliantly rendered as follows:

Piano Trio, "Tanceredi" Overture (Rossini)—Mrs. Homer Potter.

Miss Sarah Walker, Miss Geraldine Sieber.

An Irish Love Song (Margaret R. Lang)—Miss Jess Rotter.

Song from the "Rubaiyat" (Arthur Foote)—Miss Cora Gordon Graham.

(b) Spirit Flower (Campbell-Tipton)—Mrs. Roland Stice.

AN INGENIOUS CONTRIVANCE.

The latest test of ingenuity is a cigar holder, which is a novelty. A metal tube some six inches long and about three sixteenths of an inch in diameter, external measurement, has in the center a curvature making a complete ring. One end is solid and at the other is the mouth piece. From the bottom of the ring extends a small tube of the same diameter as the other, pointed and a hole in the side. This small tube is inserted in the cigar which is lighted and smoked in the ordinary manner and the tobacco may be almost entirely consumed in this way. It is certainly a novel contrivance.

AN OVERBURDENED WIFE.

If the work that women do and the pains they suffer could be measured in figures, what a terrible array they would present! Through girlhood, wifehood and motherhood woman toils on, often suffering with backache, pains in side, headaches and nervousness which are tell-tale symptoms of organic derangements which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—made from roots and herbs—can undoubtedly correct. Women who suffer should not give up hope until they have given it a trial.—Adv.

EXERCISE AND GRECIAN BEAUTY.

What it Means.

Many thousands of women are now-a-days paying attention to physical culture and the proper exercise of their body muscles, where thirty years ago or fifty years ago there was no thought expended on this science, which is quite necessary to physical beauty. The reason the Greeks, both men and women, excelled in beautiful and symmetrical forms was because of the attention they paid to the proper exercise. Then, too, they were untrammelled by corsets, shoes and the inconveniences of clothing. To the minds of some women the idea of physical exercise conveys only the idea of hard fatiguing work. Mild exercise continued day after day is best for the body and spirits and health. Without proper exercise, there can be no health, and without health there can be no real beauty. There is no stronger proof of the sound remedial value of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription than that it restores the wasted form to its wonted roundness.

The mighty restorative power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription speedily causes all womanly troubles to disappear—compels the organs to properly perform their natural functions, corrects displacements, overcomes irregularities, removes pain and misery at certain times and brings back health and strength to nervous, irritable and exhausted women.

It is a wonder that Nature's roots with glycerine, with no alcohol to falsely stimulate. It banishes pain, headache, backache, low spirits, hot flashes, dragging-down sensations, worry and sleeplessness surely and without loss of time.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. Address Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

LITERBERRY.

The Literberry M. E. society met with Mrs. Verne Hull on Wednesday afternoon; sixteen persons were present. Topic, "The Women of the Bible." Mrs. McFillen gave a talk on Deborah; Mrs. Lida Beavers, Martha; Mrs. J. M. Litter, Hannah; Mrs. Dunlap, the Widow's Son; Miss Ethel Sorrells, Miriam; Mrs. McCarty, Eve. In the name contest there were nine ladies eligible for a nice present, each of the nine having answered all the names. Mrs. Hull decided this was most too many, so after lots were drawn, our worthy president carried off the china plate. Refreshments were served at four o'clock, the time dish was passed, and the meeting closed.

We were grieved to hear on Saturday afternoon of the death of Mrs. C. Z. Roach of Concord. For many years we have looked upon Mr. and Mrs. Roach among our dearest friends. Concord will not be the same now since Mrs. Roach has gone.

Mrs. W. E. Murray of Sunny Slope is on the sick list, having a heavy cold.

Rev. Wm. Johnson of White Hall came over Sunday morning and filled the pulpit at the Baptist church at the eleven o'clock service, also at six in the evening. We were all glad to hear brother Johnson preach and would be glad indeed to have him for our pastor all the time.

Dr. Griffin and wife of Mexico, Mo. are visiting friends and relatives here. The Doctor was born and raised in Literberry and our people have a great liking for him, both as a good man and as a physician. They are using all the arguments they can bring to bear upon the case to induce him to come to this place. We hope the people will win out in the end, and we will have the Doctor and his good wife permanently settled here.

Signs of spring are in our town. Cruso Collins has made things look nice about his place by felling some useless trees, pulling down broken fences and burning brush.

Aaron Pefesh, Jr. has been busy fixing up his house on Peoria boulevard; this is a sign for the boys to get their tin pans and circular saws in tune.

The Misses Bertha and Marie Mapson of Maple View, Grace Chapel, came up Saturday evening to visit the Scribners over Sunday.

Douglas Turley and Walter Brainer of Grace Chapel stopped here a short time Friday; they were on their way east of Literberry to move a herd of cattle on Saturday.

A good number of our people went out to the old Crum homestead on Saturday, to help W. H. Crum celebrate his sixtieth birthday; they report a good time, a big dinner and plenty of music.

We were greatly shocked Sunday morning by a telephone message from Arenzville announcing the death of our nephew, Dr. Lawrence McCarty of South St. Louis; he is a son of W. L. and Louise McCarty of Arenzville, and was about thirty years old, a fine young man of much promise. The funeral will be at Arenzville Tuesday afternoon (today), March 16.

Questions given by S. H. Crum to the Baptist Sunday school for next Sunday are: What year was Ichabod born? What relation was Elijah to Eli? Where did Jonathan get the honey? What is meant by "the armor bearer slew"? What killed most of the Philistines?

MISSIONARY TALK.

Sunday afternoon the Mound Sunday school, with a large and appreciative attendance of both children and parents, had an extended talk on China and the mission work in that great land. The talk was illustrated with pictures showing life in that far away land and the work of the missionaries was especially exemplified and described.

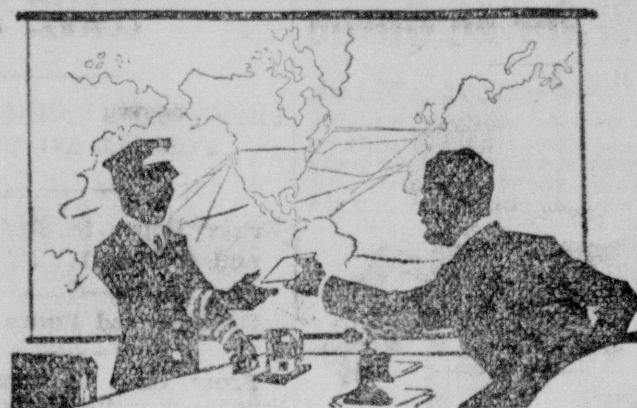

A number of curios also gathered in that land were shown and indicated the great skill of the workmen and women in articles which they manufacture.

ADDITION TO THE FORCE.

W. E. Patterson, recently of Monmouth, has been added to the force at the furnishing store of Andre & Andre. Mr. Patterson was at one time a resident of the west part of this county three miles from Chapin, and has a good many friends who will remember him with pleasure. He is an experienced business man and will be a desirable addition to the force. He expects to bring his family here in a few weeks.

E. E. and A. D. Smith left yesterday in Lamar, Missouri, after a visit with relatives and friends in this city.

Charles Dean of Manchester was a visitor with city people yesterday.

REASONS WHY BOYS LEAVE THE FARM

PROFESSIONS ARE TOO FULL FOR ALL TO SUCCEED.

Writer Refers to Jacksonville Visit and to Hon. W. J. Bryan, a Former Citizen—Some Statistics in Business and Professional World.

From time to time discussions have been invited through the press "why boys leave the farm", and until now like Arabian Knights of Old, no charger is bold enough to tackle the unknown quantity of circumstances that lies in the foreground, stances that lies in the foreground, writes Dr. Chas. Nash of Topeka, Kansas.

It's quite a long time since I was a boy and as one is as young as he feels, I am a boy still, with my sails trimmed here and there by experience. Every sane person should like a boy or girl if they are brought up not to be selfish, haughty or unkind. For children like the aged and infirm want to be noticed, for they are just budding into years and our ways, the leaves of our store of experience should be unfolded to them in kindness, showing their pathway with just such things in word, act and deed as we wish our more mature judgment, expect. But it is human nature here below to regard our inferiors and be envious of our superiors. Now that is wrong, for a river never rises higher than its source. The coloring matter should be cultivated in the bud if we expect the rainbow tints in the flower. Therefore, this world is filled with men and women today whose perceptive faculties are stunted for the desire for unknown quality; they should have looked up into the channels for what others have found, and learn from them by observation and association.

Farmer is Envid. A successful farmer has the most resourceful brain of any profession in the world today, and every city man envies him his independent position. It is a beautiful morning and the sun is spreading its warmth over Mother Earth and the hand of man by just tilling the soil about the growing vegetation it would respond with a bounteous harvest. It renews one's life in the growing season to drive into the country and talk over the "ifs" and "ands" of bygone years. We come by a beautiful piece of ground; nature has done its share but the road isn't mowed and the fences are crumbling down and the weeds are choking out all vegetation and we are curious to know if the owner is sick or what not, to let his life slip away and not grasp on the opportunities that are everywhere present for a financial "nest-egg" in his declining years and a surplus to start the boys and girls out by and by and enable them to look the world in the face.

A passerby informs us that it is Weary Willie's farm, but he is in "town" every day. We moved on until we came to the orchard and it had been pastured and the trees were mostly dead and we drove up to the lane leading to the house. The gate was a two-barbed wire contraption; we untangled the combination and drove in to survey the scene for it was old boards and posts and dead limbs of trees, and as we drew near the barn it played peek-a-boo between the boards and poor old worn-out farm machinery was strewn about. We looked at the house and it resembled the window shades, full of holes and hung squee-jawed. We could hear an attempt at singing by two voices and the words were quite familiar, "Will there be any stars in my crown." As misery like company we must make some excuse for calling. I moved toward the open door, slowly, to give the children a chance to crawl under the ead. There were eight with the mother, that crowded about the door; one boy and girl nearly grown. A whole family immune against any disease for a live germ that would venture in would fly to the Kingdom Come. Contentment is a jewel if one is satisfied, but what about the future of these children in a world that is moving forward by leaps and bounds for better things today? From an old copy of Poor Man's Almanac published over 150 years ago, I read these words, "The best fertilizer for a man's farm is his own tracks." We will drive on a little further and we come to another farm; the road is mowed and there are good fences, the boys are plowing corn, the rows are straight and clean; there is a thorough cultivation for the small grain looks well.

Farm Well Kept. The clover lot is fenced with woven wire and the pigs are thrifty and the stock cattle well fed and the buildings are painted and the machinery is housed and up to date and everything is picked up and in apple pie order. The mail carrier brings in a generous supply of daily papers and women's magazines and something for the boys and girls to read. This Jerry Brown is a hustler and always at home on the job looking after things in detail. There, the phone is ringing. Mrs. Brown or the children are not listening to hear the gossip of some others down the line who are neglecting their work cavedropping. They just can't stand it; they never had originality enough themselves to attract public attention and there they stand to catch the latest off from the griddle. The rising generation present who are expected to fill positions or trust as men and matrons by and bye are receiving some valuable lessons to be passed down through coming generations. These are facts however; then we wonder why some boys and girls desire to get away from their surroundings and out into the world to learn something.

Progressive Community. There is a convention in town and we parents should attend. It is the coming together of all the teachers in the county. They are there to exchange ideas how best to teach the minds of the boys and girls under their charge, by the least resistance. They are their pupils' second teachers for it is at home that the child's mind receives its first impressions and the pictures thus formed must be fought for and against from the cradle to the grave if we expect to reach the goal of a laudable ambition for respectability and something to lean against in our declining years. But, preachers tell us we should live for Him; which would be very acceptable if we lived in the tropics where breadfruit and fig trees grow. We should never blame the progressive up-to-date minister for moving from some village church on the excuse of increase in salary. He knows a live congregation from a little cold dead one where the old fossils have been in control, even to the choir for the past thirty-five years in the face of generations of musical young people that have grown up unrecognized and moved away from these congested surroundings.

Recalls Jacksonville Visit. Some time ago I stopped over in Jacksonville, Ill., the early professional home of W. J. Bryan. In conversation over the event with Mr. Charles Heppner, one of their leading citizens, he painfully informed me, "If we had known he was the coming Hon. William Jennings Bryan we never would have let him leave our city; we are proud of him." However after three years residence in Lincoln, Nebraska, they recognized his ability and elected him to congress; the so-called most eloquent orator on the platform today, with his philosophy of political economy fifty years ahead of his time, except the free coinage of silver. Isn't this enough to inspire the right spirited and determined young man to seek elbow room away from envy and congested surroundings? The fact is, beyond contradiction, that an aspiring mind is an enemy in his own country.

Perhaps young man you would be interested in the inside facts and statistics of the business and professional world with its successes and failures. Grocers, 78 per cent are not successful; dry goods, 23 per cent; boots and shoes, 33 per cent; clothing, 21 per cent; drug stores 67; wet territory, 7 per cent; hardware, 39 per cent; plumbing shops, 62 per cent. It is practically demonstrated for a successful career there are 50 per cent excess of requirements to serve the public in all retail lines of business over the entire country. In the professions, "The average salary of ministers of the south is $458; in the north, $818. In the face of the high cost of living this is a disgrace to the Protestant church and the high calling of the ministry. The lawyers; 8 per cent have an income from 6 to 20 thousand dollars and 42 per cent from 2 to 6 thousand dollars and 50 per cent are living in hopes by mixing in other lines of business. Lawyers are counseled to avoid law suits today as never before. It is the large fees in damages suits and corporation attorneys who makes the money.

Business Men in Bankruptcy. In conversation with a friend of mine, the leading physician in a small town I asked him why with his qualifications he did not enlarge his field of usefulness in a city and he informed me that he had rather be a "big toad in a small puddle" than a "small toad in a big puddle." Owing to the enforcement of sanitary laws in the prevention of diseases in the city it had interfered with the medical profession as a business. Four per cent have incomes from 12 to 25 thousand dollars per year; 46 per cent from 1 to 12 thousand and 50 per cent below 1 thousand per year. They wishfully are looking out of their office windows on the passing stream of humanity by day and dreaming of epidemics by night and in disgust with young lawyers and dentists, one by one, drift into other lines of activity. It is variously estimated from one to five hundred retired farmers to one business or professional man. In the bankruptcy courts one farmer is asking release from his obligations to about one thousand from other lines of business.

Young man, it looks easy when you stand before the glass and survey the knowledge and power you (think) you possess. But it is the other fellow's judgment that is weighing you in the balances today that expects miracles to be performed by the new man at a small price. Its only the combination of circumstances with your capabilities and grit and what not that will land you on the wings of fame and fortune. With nearly fifty per cent of the professions falling by wayside is it worth the candle?

A Profession Not Over Crowded. But there is a profession today that is full of business and not overcrowded. Its calling is dignified, healthful and remunerative and its products will never again be cheap and begging for mouths to consume. It's the products of the soil. The worlds professions look with envy upon his wealth and independence and the workers of the world are grasping at his wares as never before. Be something and somebody. Start in today and buckle on the armor for the business warfare, the survival of the fittest in whatever line you choose and be a success in the world. Don't be a Weary Willie and send your offspring out to taint and taintize humanity, but originate as well as imitate the well spent life of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Brown, whose children have been taught the precepts of business with the pleasures in season, and kindness by word, act and deed; and the world will strew flowers over their pathway when they have passed over the Great Divide.

STATE SUES FOR $6,000,000.—Oklahoma City, Okla., Mar. 15.—A total of $6,000,000 in refunds is involved in the Oklahoma two-cent fare cases, which will come up today in the Federal Court of the Western Oklahoma District. U. S. Judge Youmans of Fort Smith, who is presiding, will hear the evidence of the state in support of the refund, and will also hear the evidence prepared by the railroads that the carriers were entitled to the three-cent a mile rate. The hearing will consume several months, it is expected, for the railroads will not abandon their position without a bitter fight.

The six millions is represented in fares collected in excess of 2 cents a mile. Excess fare coupons are held by many thousands of people in the state. The unclaimed portion, if the refund is allowed, will ultimately be turned into the state treasury.

The railroads in opening their case will maintain that the rate, of two cents a mile fixed by the state law of Oklahoma is confiscatory. The state of Oklahoma is represented by Attorney General S. P. Freeling, former Attorney General Chas. J. West and J. M. Hill, former chief justice of Arkansas.

VETERAN HIKER HUNTS HIS LOST RELICS.

Springfield, Mass., Mar. 15.—Edward Payson Weston, who today reaches his 76th birthday, and feels almost as spry as ever, is making a search in Springfield for some valuable papers which he left here 56 years ago. The letters were autographs by Abraham Lincoln, James Buchanan and Edward Everett. From his farm in Minnesota he journeyed here this month to search out the man to whom he gave the letters as a pledge for a loan in his youthful days. Weston was without funds when he reached Springfield in 1859, and in order to continue his journey he pawned some books in which the valuable letters were carried. He is doubtful about the recovery of his relics.

A SAFE WAY TO STOP INDIGESTION.

Without Fear of Weakening the Stomach—Works Fine in Any Case and Brings Relief in Ten Minutes.

The greatest folly of today is committed by people with weak dyspeptic stomachs who take artificial digesters to cure indigestion.

Artificial digesters—pepsin pills, etc.—simply encourage a lazy or tired out stomach to shirk its work by doing most of its work for it. This is fine for a time but as every chronic dyspeptic knows, artificial digesters soon lose their efficiency. Where one once did the trick three or four are now required and the poor old stomach itself is worse off than ever.

Your stomach must be strong enough to expand and contract with a sort of churning movement so as to mix its digestive juices with your food. If your stomach isn't strong enough to properly churn your food, you will keep right on having indigestion after every meal until you make it strong.

There is one stomach remedy that every dyspeptic can depend on as surely as that the sun will rise tomorrow and that is the famous old MI-O-NA Stomach Tablets. Most stomach remedies lead the stomach rest and digest the food themselves. MI-O-NA won't digest anything, but it will strengthen and stimulate the stomach and make it do its own digesting. It stops stomach pains, gas, bloating, burning, belching, etc. in ten minutes and does still better by making the flabby, inflamed and inactive stomach walls grow strong and elastic and able to do their own churning. MI-O-NA Tablets never lose their effect and unlike mere artificial digesters need not be used forever. A few weeks use is generally sufficient to put any stomach in fine shape and Coover & Shreve and many other leading druggists hereabouts sell it with that understanding, agreeing to refund money to anyone who does not get complete relief—Advertisement.

GLASS WORK BOOMING.

MEETING OF CITY COUNCIL

Members Canvass Vote at Recent Primary Election—Other Business Transacted.

The city council met yesterday morning in regular session with all members present except Commissioner Brennan.

A communication relative to the condition of the O'Brien boilers in the light plant was read. It mentioned some slight defects in one and they have been remedied or will be soon.

The clerk reported that five voting precinct tally sheets had been sealed up in the sacks containing the ballots. They were numbers 3, 5, 6, 14 and 16 and the clerk was instructed to open the sacks and remove the sheets and seal up the sacks again and it was done.

The council then proceeded to canvass the vote at the recent primary election and found it differed from the published report in only a few minor instances.

Louis Hoffman developed a bit of popularity receiving in precinct no. 10 six votes and two in no. 13. One vote was cast for W. H. Anderson for commissioner and one for T. D. Martin.

It was evident that a good many ballots were defective judging by the total number of votes cast and the numbers cast for mayor.

An ordinance calling for an election or referendum on the salary question was read and laid over under the rules. It is to be decided by the voters at the coming election whether they want the mayor to work for $900 a year and the commissioners for $600 a year or not.

Another ordinance calling for a regular election for city officers to be held was read and laid over under the rules.

Both elections are to be held April 20th and the places and judges were named.

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION WILL BE ORGANIZED TODAY

Commissioners Will Take Oath and First Formal Meeting Will Follow—Will Be Received by President Later in Week.

Washington, March 15.—The second great governmental agency created by congress since the administration of President Wilson began will come into being at noon tomorrow when Joseph E. Davies of Wisconsin, Edward N. Hurley of Illinois, William J. Harris of Georgia, William H. Parry of Washington and George Rublee of New Hampshire are sworn in as members of the federal trade commission with far reaching powers of supervision over American enterprises.

As was the case with federal reserve board there will be only the simplest ceremonies in connection with the organization of the trade commission. The members will take the oath in Mr. Davies' present office as commissioner of corporations.

Chief Justice J. Harry Covington of the supreme court of the District of Columbia will administer the oath, completing the work he began as a member of congress when he introduced bill creating the commission. Later in the week the commissioners will be received by President Wilson. All of the commissioners were in Washington today engaged in preliminary conferences.

Mr. Davies, whose appointment holds for seven years and who will undoubtedly be the first chairman of the commission, said the first formal meeting would immediately follow the introduction of the members into office. From that time on the commission will be in daily session, setting its machinery in motion.

SCHMIDT AND CAPLAN WILL BE ARRAIGNED IN COURT TODAY

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 15.—Attorneys for the defense said today that motions to quash the indictments against David Caplan and M. A. Schmidt on the ground that the grand jury was prejudiced would be filed tomorrow with affidavits when the two men appear in court to plead on the charge of murder in connection with dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building, October 1st, 1910.

About half a ton of written evidence and exhibits gathered at Indianapolis where other labor leaders were tried for conspiracy to transport explosives illegally have been brought to Los Angeles for use in the Schmidt-Caplan case.

HEARING ON TENNANT FARMERS

Dallas, Texas, March 15.—The federal industrial relations commission will open a public hearing today on land problems in rural sections. Agriculture will be the dominant theme, and the cotton crisis will be reviewed, with its attendant results on landlord and employing farmer, the tenant farmer and the farm laborer. One of the most important points to be probed at this sitting is the relation of the tenant farmers to the land owners in Texas. The tendency toward concentration of ownership is involved. Rent increases will be investigated, and the growth of class feeling, inter-racial competition and favoritism will be studied by the commission.

LEGISLATORS TAKE FLIGHTS.
San Diego, Cal., March 15.—United States Senator McCumber of the senate naval affairs committee and Representatives Britton of Illinois and Gordon of Ohio of the house committee on naval and army affairs respectively made extensive aeroplane flights today at the army aviation station on North Island. Pending the decision, which probably will be handed down tomorrow, Thaw was locked up in the Tombs prison.

THE AYERS NATIONAL BANK

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES

$3.00 PER YEAR

Less than One Cent a Day.

There are hundreds of people in this vicinity who have become accustomed to using a tin box in which to keep their valuables, who by using one of our SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES will find they are safer, strictly private and more satisfactory in every way. It requires two keys to unlock the box. The customer has one and the Bank the other, which is the master key. If you should lose your key, and some one else should find it, it would do them no good, because it would require the master key, which we hold before the box could be opened.

There is no better or stronger vault in the United States, and the rate we pay on burglary insurance, which we carry, is the lowest in the country.

Come in and let our vault clerk, Mr. Ewen I. Whitlock, explain.

MRS. FENETTA SARGENT HASKELL

HEARD IN SUPERB READING

Mrs. Fenetta Sargent Haskell, who was heard last night at Grace M. E. church as the last number of the C. W. Best Artist series delighted her audience by the presentation of "Nowadays," the new book by George Middleton of New York. The book abounds in material that afforded the reader no little opportunity to display her unusual talents as a delineator of character. She entered into the spirit of the characters represented with such reality, that the audience forgot that it was not the other person, who was standing before them. She possesses such a magnetism and a mastery of many kinds of dialect that she at once captivates her audience. Not only in the heavier work but in that of lighter vein did Mrs. Haskell display her ability and at the close of "Nowadays," she gave Riley's "The Fool Children." The reader was warmly greeted at the close of her program and it is safe to say that her second visit to Jacksonville will be eagerly anticipated.

Don't forget to see the little folks display styles in our window Wednesday afternoon. Lukeman Bros.

STATE SAILOR IS HELD ON BOARD

GERMAN SHIP AGAINST HIS WILL

Charles Frank of the Crew of the American Ship Frye is Said to Be Held on Cruiser Eitel in German Uniform.

Newport News, Va., Mar. 15.—Testimony has been forwarded to Washington that Charles Frank, a sailor of the crew of the American ship William P. Frye which was sunk by the German converted cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, is held aboard the warship here in German uniform against his will. Details as communicated to government officials in a sworn statement by E. W. Johnson, another of the Frye's sailors, were revealed today by other members of the Frye's crew. Although Frank had shipped as a Norwegian and had not proclaimed that he was a German, he was summoned before Captain Thierichsen, according to the statement, and the next time he was seen he was in a German uniform. Johnson was said to have declared in his statement that Frank told him he did not want to fight for any of the belligerents. Commander Thierichsen again today did not send to Collector of Customs Hamilton the reply to his request for a statement as to the length of time to be required for repairs to his ship.

NEW MEXICAN CONFIDENTIAL

AGENCY SET UP IN WASHINGTON

Jose Vasconcelos is in Charge and He Represents Gutierrez, Who Heads an Independent Movement in Central Mexico.

Washington, March 15.—A new Mexican "confidential agency" was set up in Washington today to rival the Carranza and Villa establishments and bring prominently before the American government an element in the complicated situation below the Rio Grande to which so far scant attention has been paid. Jose Vasconcelos is in charge and he represents Eualdo Gutierrez, who is said to be the head of an independent movement in central Mexico, backed by some forty thousand soldiers. Gutierrez was elected provisional president of Mexico by the Aguas Calientes convention and for a brief period was ruler in Mexico City. Vasconcelos, who was minister of public instruction in his cabinet reached here today after an exciting journey and went directly to the state department to lay the object of the Gutierrez campaign before Leon Canova, chief of the Mexican division of the Latin-American bureau.

EXTRAORDINARY PRECAUTIONS ARE

TAKEN TO KEEP DEFENSES SECRET

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Extraordinary precautions adopted by German port authorities to prevent foreigners learning anything about their coast defenses or havens of the German navy are described in a communication which Washington officials have just received from an officer of an American steamer. The officer says that before entering the port of Bremerhaven his vessel was boarded by about sixty Germans who took complete command of the ship, sending the captain and every one of the officers and crew down below where they were shut in with closed ports until the vessel was at its berth. The movements of both officers and crew was closely restricted as long as they were in port. Nevertheless the officer speaks of the extraordinary number of submarines he saw, some of them very much larger than anything he had ever seen in this country. He says he was told also that the Germans were turning out these vessels at the rate of one a day.

Wilson, who preceded her husband in death six years ago. FROM OVER THE WATER

Interesting Letter to Wm. H. Cocking of This City.

From a cousin in England, Wm. H. Cocking has received a letter from which the Journal is kindly permitted to make some extracts.

"The Beaches, Sevenoaks, England. "22nd, Feb. 1915.

"Dear Cousin:

"My son Fred is now a big fellow over 21 years old. He was in camp with his Yeomanry regiment when war broke out and was of course mobilized and volunteered for active service.

"At present his regiment, being cavalry, is not required at the front, so at present he is in England guarding the coast but we expect he will soon be gone. It is a terrible thing for all the nations concerned and seems so unnecessary. It is extraordinary what lies are told about England and the state she is in. As a matter of fact, beyond a slight rise in the price of a few things, such as coal and flour, due to the shortage of freight, we are going on just as usual, buying and selling and all the rest of it.

"Of course coast towns have to do without illumination at night because these German airships and aeroplanes occasionally come over and drop a few bombs about in order to make a sensation absolutely needless as to whether the place is wholly a civilian resort or not. Fancy calling Lowestoft, Yarmouth and Crowen fortified places. There isn't a gun in the whole lot. However the treatment of Belgium is evidence of what they will do in their military arrogance if they get the chance.

"We have of course, heaps of Belgians here, refugees absolutely ruined. However, I dare say, your papers keep you fully informed and we can only hope the end will come and sooner than it is expected."

GIRL ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Young Lady Supposed to be a Former Resident of Franklin Tries to Take Her Own Life.

A sad case of attempted suicide took place at Springfield Monday afternoon when a girl apparently about 25 or 30 years of age had tried to end her existence by inhaling gas in a boarding house in which she had a short time before taken a room. She had applied at the place for lodgings and had given her name as Miss Hawk the Saturday before.

When the girl was found she was unconscious and almost dead, but a doctor was hastily summoned and applying the pulsometer consciousness was restored but the girl refused to say why she had tried to end her life and virtually admitted that the name she gave was fictitious.

Dated Aug. 14, 1914 and lying on a table in the room, a marriage license was found issued at Carlinville to Miss Pearl Braswell and Bert Whittier and both parties had given Virden as their home. In the pocketbook the girl had carried was a note stating that if any accident happened Emmett Braswell of Franklin should be notified.

The police also found a number of letters addressed to Miss Pearl Braswell, Virden, Ill., with box 874, Virden, Ill., as return address. The police are satisfied that the unfortunate young woman is the Pearl Braswell mentioned in the marriage license and that her married life was unhappy and they undertook to locate relatives in Virden or Franklin.

It seems her sister's name is Mrs. John T. Smith, her mother is Mrs. Margaret Braswell and her brother, Emmett Braswell and all reside in Franklin. The girl had been employed in the household of Representative Wheeler of the state legislature. Mrs. Smith, sister of the girl, hearing of the unfortunate affair, went over to Springfield last evening.

Big debate, High S. Friday night.

BODY IS NOT FOUND.

The body of John Silkwood yesterday afternoon had not been recovered from the Mississippi river and it does not seem probable that the remains of the Hartwell drainage and levee district employee will ever be found. Mr. Silkwood was drowned Friday while taking a barge from Pearl, Ill., his home city, to Elsberry, Mo., according to word received Friday night by H. L. Caldwell. In attempting to tighten the tow rope he fell and a large gasoline can, around which were tied the loose ends, fell on top of him into the river. He was probably stunned as he made no attempt to catch a rope cast him from the launch which had the barge in tow.

WITH THE SICK.

Joseph McCarty, who for some time has been a patient at Our Saviors' hospital, has returned to his home on North Main street.

Hugo Hardin of Casper, Wyo., has been called to Jacksonville by the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. Frank Harden of 955 East State street. Mrs. Harden is at Our Saviors' hospital.

Valentine Lehr brought his daughter Pearl to Passavant hospital Monday. They reside in Chambersburg.

Fred Lawson who was injured by a buzz-saw Saturday near Manchester was brought to Passavant hospital Sunday in an ambulance. He underwent an operation on his arm. He has a fighting chance for his life.

Mrs. Walter Haxton underwent an operation Monday morning at Dr. Day's hospital.

Mrs. John Coons of Louisiana, Mo., has been called to the bedside of her mother, Mrs. William Jackson of Franklin, who continues critically ill with pneumonia.

W. J. Wood of Franklin who has been very ill is reported better.

Miss Margaret Ricks of 799 North East street is slowly improving from pneumonia.
